LONDON, JANUARY 29.

YESTERDAY morning the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex sent an order to John Wilkes, Esquire, to attend his seat in Parliament, pursuant to an order from the Speaker.

Orders have been lately issued for the non-exportation of Fire-arms to the Continent, except it be on the account of Government.

JANUARY 31.

A French Gentleman, well acquainted with the English nation, said the other day, in a company, in which the attempt of Colonel Stuart's friends to supercede Colonel Gordon was the topic of conversation, he often wondered when he read our news-papers, how it happened that the highest posts of honour and profit in the East and West-Indies, were generally filled by the natives of Scotland: If a man is made a Governor, a General, or Commander in Chief, I always found, said he, he was a Stuart, a Murray, a Johnston, or a Lindsey. This is owing to the Union, cries a South-Briton, our friends in the North reckon it an infraction of the union, if any post or employment is given to an Englishman; and therefore his Majesty's friends, to preserve this union as complete as possible, throw all posts and places among the Scotch for a scramble. Indeed, replies the French Gentleman, the union appeared so complete to me, that had I judged only from the appointments which appeared in the public prints, I should have fancied every man in the island was a Scotchman.

General Graeme, Secretary and Comptroller to her Majesty, has, we hear, resigned both those offices, and retired in disgust.

A short time since Dr. Benjamin Franklin, Agent for the House of Assembly of New-England, presented a petition from the House of Assembly to the King; assuring his Majesty, that the people of New-England had no confidence in their Governor; that they considered him an enemy to the province; that the breach between them and him was become so open and avowed, and the enmity between them so declared and positive, the public business of the province was thereby so essentially injured and impeded, that it was necessary for the public service, as well as their happiness, to remove him; and concluded with a request to remove him from that Government. The King gave no answer to the petition; and it was imagined no notice would be taken of it; but upon reconsidering the matter, it was thought most prudent to refer it to the Privy Council. Administration were thus obliged to take it up. A sort of mock trial was resolved upon, that the truth of the allegations might be effectually enquired into; and upon which some judgment (worthy of themselves!) is to be formed, and reported to the King. The enquiry came on THIS DAY, before the Privy Council. Dr. Franklin attended according to order; and the Attorney and Solicitor General being, by order of Administration, Council for Governor Hutchinson, Dr. Franklin was allowed Council likewise. He had Mr. Serjeant Glynn and Mr. Dunning. The matter turned chiefly upon the extraordinary letters (which have been published) of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor to the late Mr. Whately. It was doubted some time, whether copies of them could be admitted as evidence; but it being impossible to obtain the originals, they being before the House of Assembly, the copies were at length admitted. Mr. Wedderburn was quite hostile to the agent, peremptorily demanding, how he came by these letters, &c. It was a very full Council.

The fate of America, and in that, of Great-Britain, depend upon the advice, or rather report, which the Privy Council shall make to the King upon this extraordinary situation of affairs in America is become more alarming than ever. The union throughout the continent to reject the Tea, while it is subject to a duty paid there, shews that the Ministers, or rather that miserable Cabinet-Junto in whom only the King thinks proper to confide, are as cordially despised in America as they are detested in England. If the tax is attempted to be imposed, which can only be by force, the remittances to England of tobacco, naval stores, &c. &c. will, of course, be stopped, and thereby the immense debt (not less than FIVE MILLIONS!) which the North Americans owe to the merchants in Great-Britain must remain unpaid. This will inevitably so materially injure our merchants, traders, and mechanics at home, that a general bankruptcy will, in all probability, succeed. The passion for power in one side, and the resolution to preserve liberty on the other, give a very serious, and, in many people's apprehension, a very dreadful complexion, to this dispute. The throwing the tea into the sea at Boston, irritates the Court extremely, and while it shews the indignity with which the legislative authority of this country is treated in America, gives room to apprehend, that if force is attempted, it will be opposed. The other colonies where no stratagem to land the tea was projected, have not indeed shewn the same indignity, because there was not the same provocation, but have acted with the same spirit and firmness; and the Carolinians particularly have guarded against the possibility of its being introduced by trick or stealth amongst them; for they have agreed not to have any dealings, or connexions of any kind whatsoever, with any person that shall offer to sell any. So resolved and determined are these people to defend and preserve their liberties, that they will relinquish this favourite part of their diet.

FEBRUARY 2.

The affairs of America at present occupy the whole attention of Administration; and it is agreed on all Hands to be now the most important business that has come under consideration since the accession of the present King.

The Clerks in the Plantation-Office are extremely busy at this Time, in regulating and adjusting the American accounts for the inspection of Parliament.

His Majesty having likewise given orders for laying before the Lords of the Council an account of the exports to America since the conclusion of the last peace.

It has been given out, that six regiments, and some men of war, are to be sent to Boston. But the better opinion is, grounded upon its being more consistent with the genius of our Court, that orders will be sent to Boston to seize the Committee-men, and send them over here, to be tried upon the act of the 35th of Henry the VIII. This was lately, upon a resolution of both Houses, (see the Commons debates for 1769) construed to extend to America.

The manner in which a celebrated agent obtained the very extraordinary letters which have occasioned so much noise, is said to be from the late Mr. Fitzherbert, who had them of Mr. Whately, to whom they were written. This is not given as the fact, but is the report that is current of that matter.

It is a melancholy reflection, and is daily made by almost every man, that when the present King ascended the Throne, the whole empire was in unanimity, happiness, and prosperity; and that now every part of it is distracted, miserable, and impoverished. This horrible reverse is accomplished in a very few years; first, by the accursed councils of an ignorant, despotic Scotch Favourite, which is now not only continued, but encreased and [illegible] by a set of low, upstart beings, as ignorant and tyrannical as himself; breathing all the Tory and prerogative, and infusing all the Stuart principles of arbitrary power; with all his pride and [illegible] his rank and affected consequence, to [illegible] weight to their proceedings. And, if [illegible] has left his power, his own creatures have [illegible] him; to whom he taught the secret of [illegible] to whom he delegated the use of it in his [illegible] men, like the late Duke of Newcastle's [illegible] said to deny their Maker, and to be [illegible] labours to keep open the breach (if [illegible] Tutor and Pupil; so that if Lord [illegible] atone for his errors, by advising the [illegible] men who gave dignity, power, and [illegible] happy and respected country, he will [illegible] to execute it.

Mr. Wedderburne, amongst other accusations, equally false and invidious, endeavoured to fix the charge of INGRATITUDE upon Dr. Franklin for acting AGAINST at the time he held a place under the Government. Dr. Franklin did not act against the Government; as the Colony-Agent it was the official duty to transmit the letters, he procured to his Constituents. But admitting him guilty of every species of ingratitude possible to conceive; a charge of that kind came from Mr. Wedderburne with a peculiar bad grace. From a state of the lowest obscurity in Edinburgh Mr. Wedderburn came to London, that mart where honour is bartered for gold, integrity for a Court smile; there the late George Grenville placed him in a situation, emerging from obscurity, into public Notice; and scarcely was he benefited by, than he deserted, nay, opposed, his Patron and Benefactor. Yet, if any man was to ask Whether I thought Mr. Wedderburne the most ungrateful — of the human species?" I should smile in his face, and speak the truth and say, " Oh, to be sure he is NOT."

FEBRUARY 14.

Letters from Dantzick by the last mail advise, that since Sweden has been declared an absolute monarchy, the liberty of the Press exists no longer, having survived that æra about eighteen months. These letters add, that it is remarkable the liberty before allowed was so restrained, that every one who published was obliged to put his name to his work, or leave his name with the bookseller that sold it, which if neglected, the bookseller was looked on as author, and liable to any penalties inflicted on trial.

Daniel Chamier, Esq; of Baltimore town, in Maryland, is appointed Commissary of Stores and Provisions in America, in the room of Robert Leake, Esq; deceased.

Extract of a Letter from Dublin, Feb. 3.

" You have seen before this, I suppose, that the Stamp Act must have a secure triumph—Alas, poor Patriotism! —Foote has just left us, and is gone for Edinburgh. The Wag has lined his pockets handsomely, and swears we can never be undone, when we can pay one fellow for making us laugh a few nights, no less than 1500l."

FEBRUARY 16.

Yesterday Mr. Sawbridge made a motion for triennial Parliaments. A short debate ensued, and the question being put, the House divided, Ayes 91, Noes 221.

As soon as the members returned into the House, Sir George Saville made his usual motion respecting the Middlesex election. This gave rise to a debate, which continued for above an hour and a half. The principal speakers in behalf of the motion were, Sir George Saville, Mr. Dowdeswell, Mr. Burke, and Mr. Serjeant Glynn. The House at length divided, Ayes 147, Noes 206.

Yesterday Mr. Solicitor-General, as usual in the case of the Middlesex election, was the first who came out of the House in favour of Sir George Saville's motion.

Mr. Wilkes attended at the door of the House, but was refused admittance.

He hath left an only son (the Sultan Selim) and three daughters, the eldest of whom is about 14 years of age, and is already the widow of the Grand Vizirs. The Sultan Abdoulhamet, his brother, aged 51 years, has been already proclaimed Emperor, in conformity to the right of succession established in Turky, where the crown passes to the eldest of the family.

It is said, orders are given at the Tower for preparing 5000 stand of small arms, to be sent to America.

Extract of a letter from Plymouth, February 22.

" Sunday night last an express arrived here with orders for the Somerset, Captain Le Cras, and Boyne, Captain Hartwell, to get ready for sea, and take on board six months provisions. If the weather had permitted, they would have come down into the Sound this day. The conjectures concerning their destination are various, but it is imagined they are going to America.

" A party of marines embarked yesterday on board the Somerset and Boyne; likewise seamen were draughted from the rest of the guardships to make up their complement."

The Somerset and Boyne, are certainly destined for Boston.

Mr. C. J. Fox was not turned out in the usual way, which is by letter, saying the King has no further occasion for the person. Mr. Fox's dismission, it is said, was by a laconic epistle to this effect, " A new commission is come out, and I do not see your name in it. North."
